MacArthur Command Extended

Be In Control In His 'On To Tokyo' Drive As Time Nears On Invasion

By JAMES HUTCHESON

MANILA, Sunday, Aug. 5.—(P)—General MacArthur announced extension of his Pacific army command to the Ryukyu Islands Saturday, thus for the first time assuming control of conquered Japanese soil in his drive "on to Tokyo."

The announcement declared that the Ryukyus, with the Philippines, "form a great semicircular base from which a mighty invasion force is being forged under the primary responsibility of General MacArthur for the final conquest of Japan."

General Doolittle's Eighth air force, to be based on Okinawa, will be under General Spaatz' U. S. army strategic air forces, which remain separate from the MacArthur command.

Units under MacArthur already in the area or moving up from the Philippines include General Stilwell's Tenth army and Gen. George C. Kenney's Far East air forces, which include the Fifth, Seventh and 13th air forces.

The extension of command, which became effective Tuesday midnight, was not a sudden shift. MacArthur previously had announced the appointment of General Stilwell to succeed the late Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., as commander of the Okinawa conquering Tenth army.

Nimitz Heads Naval Forces

Admiral Nimitz, under whose overall command Okinawa and a dozen smaller islands were occupied, presumably remained in command of naval forces in the Ryukyus.

(As the command extension was announced, Senators Johnson (D-Colo.) and Stewart (D-Tenn.) declared in Washington that they favored promoting MacArthur to overall command in the Pacific. They were commenting on an Okinawa statement by General Doolittle that an overall chief of all armed forces would be advantageous.)

The Ryukyus, extending from Formosa to the Japanese mainland, form the natural invasion bridge which MacArthur would follow in the "on to Tokyo" declaration he issued Feb. 6 in proclaiming the fall of Manila.

Japan still holds the by-passed Sakishima group, between the Okinawas and Formosa, and the northern Amami, Tokara and Osumi groups.

Okinawa is about 600 miles from the Philippines and only 325 miles from Japan's mainland.

The Ryukyus change apparently was made under the U. S. joint chiefs of staff assignments of April 5, dividing Pacific commands.

MacArthur was then named commander of "all army forces and resources in the Pacific theater" and Nimitz was given command of all naval forces and resources.

Sightseeing In Rome

Pvt. Billy Williams (left) son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams, 1716 West Sixteenth street, with two friends in Rome Italy. Pvt. Williams has been in the service about five years, overseas since December, 1943. In a letter to his parents, written July 7, he stated he was back in France for a few months. He has 95 points, but writes that men with over a hundred points are being sent home first. He tells of a five day visit to Berlin with four other soldiers, prior to the occupation of that city by the Russians. They made the trip in captured German vehicles and he stated he was surprised at the number of American made cars in Berlin.

State Fair To Show Might Of Air Forces

Also Many Other Attractions Here August 19-26

Displays and exhibits stressing the aerial might of the U. S. Army Air Forces, a miniature replica of Ringling Brothers Circus, and Uncle Ezra's automatic model farm will be among the special attractions of the 1945 Missouri State Fair, to be held here August 19-26, according to an announcement by Ernest W. Baker, Secretary-Manager of the 43 annual exposition.

One of the biggest "off the post" military displays ever to be made available to the public will be on exhibition at the Fairgrounds all during Fair Week, through the courtesy of the Sedalia Army Air Field.

The mechanical circus, which circus-owner John Ringling once said was "just like the real thing," duplicates completely with moving figures and animals, "The Greatest Show on Earth."

Uncle Ezra's Farm

Among the more unusual displays will be Uncle Ezra's Farm, brought to the grounds by E. H. Thomas. The model is nine by six feet long, required seven years to build, and is valued at $10,000. All the farm's figures and equipment operate automatically by electricity in a most life-like fashion. Men seventy years old, or older, will be admitted free.

The Fair's policy of "Everybody Pays," will be in force again this year, and gate admission will be twenty-five cents, plus five cents excise tax. All persons entering the grounds must pay the admission fee, with no exceptions. Fair officials, employees, exhibitors, performers, concessionaires and fair visitors, "Everybody pays."

The Fairgrounds will be policed at all times by the Missouri State Highway Patrol, who will have their own building on the grounds.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 4.—(P)—W. Averell Harriman, U. S. ambassador to Russia, arrived by plane today from London, where he went after the Potsdam conference. His daughter, Kathleen, vacationing in Sweden, met him here. They plan to leave for Moscow shortly.

Oldest Priest In K. C. Diocese Dies

BOONVILLE, Mo., Aug. 4.—(P)—The Rev. Francis Frederick Kueper, 97, the oldest Catholic priest in the Kansas City diocese, died in a hospital here today.

Born in Westphalia, Germany, in 1848, he became parish priest at Tipton, Mo., in 1877. During 52 years there he sponsored the building of the present church and often told his friends he had heard a million confessions as a priest. He had been in failing health since 1927 and has been living at St. Joseph's hospital here.

Seek Relaxing War Controls

GOP Leaders Question Need Of Such Huge Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—A Republican legislative program calling for an immediate halt in the drafting of men into the armed services and early relaxation of wartime controls on business was proposed today by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

The chairman of the senate minority steering committee outlined his ideas for congressional action on postwar employment, social welfare, public works, agriculture and labor.

His lengthy statement was fashioned as a reply to a program based on proposals made by President Truman and the late President Roosevelt, which Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) told the senate last week it must consider when congress returns in October. Asserting that "the stupid, stubborn policy of the war department in maintaining an army as big as it was on V-E day should be overruled," Taft declared that "the drafting of new men, and particularly men who are essential in industry between 26 and 30, should be immediately forbidden."

"It is impossible to see how even seven million men can be used in the war against Japan, and we still have about 8,300,000," Taft said. He added that unless men are demobilized gradually the country will face a serious unemployment problem when the Japanese are defeated.

Urging the abolition of wage controls in 1946, Taft said congress should force the OPA to drop price curbs on non-essential items and provide "adequate prices" on essential goods to spur small business manufacturing.

For Easing WPB Controls

He said that unless WPB controls are relaxed "we can never get started on new housing, farm machinery, reconversion machinery or hundreds of basic materials required if men are to be put to work when they come out of the army."

He said the British "are months ahead of us in reconversion" and blamed "unreasonably demands of the army and navy" for the WPB's failure to ease controls more promptly.

Among other things he wanted most of the war manpower regulations abolished "so that anyone can get a job from anyone else."

Calling the estimate of a $46,280,000,000 deficit in this fiscal year "discouraging and unnecessary," Taft said congress should create a joint committee to study economic measures.

"Such a committee or commission must cover the whole ground of economic forces and not confine itself to huge government spending as the panacea for every ill, as does the Wagner so-called 'full employment bill,'" he said.

His task here will be to act as midwife for a New League of Nations organization, a well-known infant whose first breath of life may come only from ratification of the San Francisco Charter by at least 28 countries.

(Diplomatic quarters in Washington saw a possibility that the 14-nation executive committee might postpone its first meeting for a week or so to allow time to complete the appointment of delegates. There also was the chance it might be put off for several weeks to await the initial gathering of the new big-five foreign ministers' council in London about Sept. 1.)

Interim Body

Officially, the body will be known as the United Nations Interim Commission. Its members, of the San Francisco conference executive committee, represent Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Czechoslovakia, France, Iran, Mexico, the Netherlands, Russia, the United States, the United Kingdom and Yugoslavia.

To this commission will fall the assignment of calling all 50 of the United Nations into a plenary session as soon as the Charter takes effect—probably before the end of the year, depending upon how soon the required 28 nations have ratified the Golden Gate document.

In the meantime, the 14-member commission will get ready for the first world organization meeting, work on dissolution of the old League of Nations, recommend a home for the new organization, plan for the establishment of a permanent secretariat, and make nominations for an international court of justice.

Drop Points On Some Juices

Reduction For Processors On Their Canned Vegetables

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—Canned tomato juice, mixed vegetable juice, grapefruit juice and blends of grapefruit and orange juice will become point-free tomorrow. Orange juice already is point free.

The action was recommended by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and accepted by Price Administrator Chester Bowles, an announcement by the two agencies tonight said.

Decision to make the juices point-free was based on information of reduced military requirements that was not available when the table of point values for August was issued by OPA, the state department said.

In addition to lower military requirements 1945-46 production of the affected juices is expected to be much larger than in pre-war years.

The agriculture department announced also that civilians will get an extra 10 million cases of the principal canned vegetables from the 1945 pack, an increase of about 10 per cent, and that smaller amounts of canned fruits and fruit juices will be set aside for government purchase.

Vegetable Pack Be Less

The quantity of canned vegetables still will be considerably less than was available from the 1944 pack, so the department stressed maximum victory garden production and home canning.

These reductions in percentages of foods processors will be required to set aside for the government, were announced:

Lima beans 36 to 34, beans 51 to 46, sweet corn 44 to 42, peas 43 to 38, pumpkin 46 to 44, sauerkraut 70 to 40, spinach 77 to 76, catsup 47 to 37, tomato juice 27 to 16, tomato puree 22 to 0.

Applesauce 54 to 48, fruit cocktail 54 to 52, peaches 64 to 60, pineapple 70 to 66, pineapple juice 48 to 36. Canned plums and fresh prunes were removed from the list of fruits to be set aside.

Because of decreased production, civilians are not expected to receive any substantial increase in supplies of these fruits.

Appeals To Save Waste Paper

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Appeals to the home front to salvage waste paper came today from navy and marine corps leaders.

Their statements, released through the conservation and salvage divisions of the War Production Board, stressed the need of paper cartons for everything from shells to blood plasma.

No Flash In Office Of John W. Snyder As A Co-ordinator

John W. Snyder, Sedalia resident several years ago when in charge of liquidation of several banks in Central Missouri, is the subject of the following article:

In A Plain Office

By VIRGINIA VAN DER VEER
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—The office is small and as plain as a government's clerk's. There is no name on the door and only a small, outside cubicle for a secretary. But its windows open on the White House lawn, in the shadow of the nation's most illustrious back porch.

Here, without benefit of waiting rooms, mahogany paneling or fat, leather chairs, operates the man in charge of coordinating the mighty United States machine for war and toward peace.

John Wesley Snyder is a new, big name to Washington. Before this spring, he was little known around a city well-versed in its White House inner circle—Harry Hopkins, Samuel Rosenman, Jonathan Daniels, Robert Sherwood, and others.

But Washington was no strange territory to the successful midwest banker. John Snyder had worked there and on since 1930, as bank receiver for the U. S. comptroller's office, as organizer and director of defense plant corporation, in other facets of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

By April, 1944, though, he had settled back in St. Louis. In an-

War Crimes Mass Trial Be At Nuernberg

To Open On Sept. 1 Before High Military Court

By ALEX SINGLETON

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(P)—The four-power war crimes conference approached agreement tonight upon an historic document indicting aggressive war as an international crime.

The document will blueprint procedure for an unprecedented mass trial of Germans listed as arch criminals—men who formulated Nazi policy, high military chiefs who executed it, ranking diplomats who intrigued for it, industrialists and financiers who gave it substance.

The trial itself will be held in Nuernberg, for years the scene of the Nazi party's annual congress. It will open before an international military tribunal Sept. 1, with representatives of Britain, France, Russia and the United States prosecuting.

The prospective list of defendants was reported by a responsible American source to include Hermann Goering, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Franz Von Papen, Alfred Rosenberg and members of the German general staff such as Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz and Field Marshals Gerd Von Rundstedt and Wilhelm Keitel.

Take Up Atrocities

Simultaneously, the high tribunal will be asked to convict the Nazi terror-atrocity organizations. If a guilty verdict is returned, it will mean a blanket conviction as war criminals of all Germans who can be established to have been voluntary members of the Gestapo or the SS.

The plan stemmed originally from the Moscow declaration of Nov. 1, 1943. Signed by President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill, it provided that "major criminals whose offenses have no particular geographical location x x x will be punished by joint decision of the governments of the Allies."

But the basic outline of procedure for the trial was advanced by Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson, shrewd and able former attorney general who was assigned by the President as chief United States prosecutor of war criminals.

Divergence Of Laws

The first hurdle which he confronted was the wide divergence of criminal law in the four major countries. As a solution, he suggested procedure should be based upon military law in which there are fewer differences.

To overcome another major obstacle—the possibility that time consuming individual trials would take so long that witnesses would disappear and evidence be lost—he suggested a collective trial.

But for a collective trial Jackson had to find a blanket charge. For this he turned to the American charge of "conspiracy"—a crime under which collective trials long have been held in the United States for a variety of offenses ranging from sabotage to gambling frauds.

Conspiracy against what? was the next question.

For an answer Jackson turned to history. He found it in the Fourth Hague convention of 1907, laying down the rules of warfare, in the Kellogg-Briand Pact of 1928 by which nearly every nation in the world—including Japan, Germany and Italy—renounced war as an instrument of national policy, and in the Geneva protocol of 1924 which declared that "war of aggression x x x constituted an international crime."

Midwest Help Supply Poultry

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson moved today to ease the burden of supplying poultry for the armed forces—now resting chiefly on eastern states—by designating 12 major producing mid-west states as a procurement area.

A spokesman said no increase is contemplated in the total taken by the armed services—currently 15 per cent of the supply. The order is designed to equalize the load and make black market operations more difficult.

Effective Aug. 13, the order provides for equal sharing by the armed forces and civilians of all poultry handled in "authorized plants"—those processing more than 20,000 pounds a week in the following states:

North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

Contraband On Hospital Ship Of Japanese

Additional 882 Japs Killed Past Three Days On Luzon

By DEAN SCHEDLER

MANILA, Sunday Aug. 5.—(P)—A Japanese hospital ship which used its "free conduct" under Red Cross insignia to move contraband war supplies, through the Allied blockade of the East Indies is being taken into port by a U. S. Seventh fleet patrol vessel.

General MacArthur's headquarters yesterday announced interception of the hospital ship, which also carried apparently faked soldier patients.

The U. S. Sixth army reported an additional 882 Japanese had been killed in the last three days on Luzon, the principal Philippine island.

London received a report that Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, Japanese supreme commander during the Philippines campaign, had been killed on Luzon in a bombing attack.

MacArthur's report of the board of the hospital ship, in the Banda sea north of Timor and roughly 400 miles north of Australia, said approximately 1,500 Japanese aboard were listed as patients. When the boarding party removed bandages from some of the patients, no wounds were found.

Machine guns, 75 millimeter shells and other ammunition were found packed in cases marked "medical supplies," headquarters said.

In the announcement, neither the course of the vessel nor the port to which it is being taken as disclosed. The Japanese still occupy most of the islands between New Guinea and Borneo, although the Allied blockade has cut off all possible escape, except for possible small scattered groups. The hospital ship's crew was listed as 13 officers and 63 men.

Three Divisions On Way To U. S.

PARIS, Aug. 4.—(AP)—USFET announced today that three divisions and one army headquarters group were on the Atlantic enroute to the United States. They include the 13th and 20th armored divisions, the 28th infantry division and Ninth army headquarters.

Advance units of the 30th infantry division also are at sea and enroute home and the main body of the division is being moved to Britain to sail this month on the Queen Mary. The division's 199th regiment will sail from Le Havre at the same time.

Advance units of the 35th infantry division sailed from Le Havre, July 21 while the main body remained in the assembly area. Advance units of the 45th infantry and 13th airborne division sailed from Le Havre July 27 and Aug. 1, respectively, while the main body of each group was awaiting shipment.

Divisions which already have gone home include the 86th, 97th, 104th, 48th, 87th, second, 44th, and Fifth infantry divisions and First army headquarters.

Add 12 Jap Cities To Be Doomed

Twentieth Air Force Serves Notice Of More Devastation

GUAM, Sunday, Aug. 5.—(P)—The destruction-dealing U. S. 20th army air force served notice today on 12 more Japanese industrial cities and their combined population of 1,400,000 that they were earmarked for devastation by Superfortresses.

Plastering the cities with 720,000 pamphlets warning the Japanese people to surrender, evacuate or die, a fleet of B-29s flew over the marked areas early today and brought to a total of 31 the vital, war-making targets forewarned in the Superfort command's deadly campaign of psychology plus explosives.

Chief forewarned city was Yawata, a densely populated city of 650,000 on the southern island of Kyushu, the Pittsburgh of Japan. It is the largest single iron and steel center in Japan.

Another of the list of doom was Akita, population 110,000. With Tsuchizaki, its port, on the northwest coast of Honshu, it is the center of Japan's largest oil producing fields.

Other cities were: Kachinohe, Urawa, Fukushima, Takayama, of Tottori, Iwakuni, all on Honshu; Saga, Miyakonojo, on Kyushu; Otaru, largest port of Hokkaido, and Imabari, on Shikoku.

Three of the 12 Yawata, Niya-konojo and Imabara, already have been raided by B-29s but have yet to feel the full devastation of the great fire-bomb attacks.

Raid Made Earlier

Yawata was the first B-29 target in Japan and the first raided by the Superforts in daylight. China-based planes of the 21st bomber command, then pioneering the war operation of the big bombers, attacked the steel city June 14, July 7 and Aug. 20, 1944. Miyakonojo was raided six times in April and May by Marianas-based B-29s. Carrier-based planes attacked it once in May and Okinawa based planes once in July.

B-29s struck Imabari May 8. It was the third time a group of cities had been warned of approaching raids in the campaign announced July 28 by Maj. Gen. Curtis LeMay of the 20th air force.

Promised destruction subsequently followed to 10 of the forewarned cities.

Only yesterday the bomber command disclosed that 3,000,000 leaflets outlining the Allied surrender-or-die ultimatum had been distributed by the B-29s over Japan's home islands, from Hokkaido to Kyushu, with special attention to Honshu and the empire's capital Tokyo.

To Relax Ration On Cheaper Shoes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—A large selection of inexpensive shoes for adults will be removed from rationing for the period August 27 through October 13, the OPA announced today.

Shoes covered by the order are those made before March 1, 1944, and retailing at $3.50 or less a pair.

This action was believed to have been taken in preparation for termination of all shoe rationing early next year. A War Production Board official who asked anonymity said prospects are "very good" for elimination of the rationing program at that time.

OPA said its action was based on reports that lower priced shoes are not moving out of dealers' stocks.

The public, the agency said, has been reluctant to spend ration stamps for inexpensive shoes.

OPA said the temporary release of lower-priced shoes could not include children's sizes because those stocks have not accumulated.

The Daily Washington

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—GI's in the American army of occupation for Germany will not be able to bring their wives to Europe, despite the fact that some of them have been separated from their families for two and three years.

President Truman made this very clear in his recent interview with the Stars and Stripes, and, because of tight transportation, this ruling seems logical.

But apparently the rule won't apply to generals. Almost simultaneously with Truman's statement, it became known that the wife of Gen. Robert A. McClure, head of the army's psychological warfare division, was able to go to Europe.

Furthermore, General McClure's wife was transported across the Atlantic at the taxpayers' expense—as a clerk for the Office of War Information.

General McClure works in close and intimate cooperation with OWI.

An official cable hiring Mrs. McClure as an OWI clerk follows: "Effective commencing July 15, Marjory McClure will be paid $75 every 28 days at post. Balance of her base pay of $200 plus overtime minus usual deductions will be paid power of attorney Unistates. Annual living allowance effective on arrival, $1,980."

Accordingly, Mrs. McClure departed for Europe on July 15.

This neat little scheme for generals to get what GI's can't was set in motion at the very same time OWI was laying off clerks and other personnel, due to a drastic cut in funds by Congress. So, while some clerks are fired, generals' wives are hired.

NOTE: OWI officials state that Mrs. McClure will serve as a receptionist in Paris; that she has ability in meeting people; and that they have long needed someone in Paris who could act in this capacity.

No Duke Churchill

When Winston Churchill turned down a knighthood this week, his son Randolph Churchill probably heaved a big sigh of relief.

For it meant that his father, in turning down this lesser honor, probably would not accept a dukedom or any other high reward. Should the elder Churchill accept a peerage, he would move into the House of Lords, which would mean that his son Randolph, upon his father's death, automatically would become a lord, thereby forfeiting the chance of a fighting political career as a commoner.

To inherit a title is the last thing young Churchill wants. His future career lies in the House of Commons, like his father.

Knowing his son's ambition, the prime minister used to hold a sword of Damocles over Randolph's head. When the mercurial Randolph got out of hand, his father half-jokingly would warn: "Tut, tut. Be careful or I'll take a peerage."

Battle Over Steel

One of the hottest fights in the whole hot history of the War Production Board has been raging backstage regarding the future allocation of steel to industry.

It is a fight affecting almost every business in the country—large and small—and if the big industry boys get their way, civilian manufacturers will get less material even than during the third quarter of this year, when we were still fighting a two-front war.

The fight is over how sheet steel shall be allocated.

Basically, this boils down to whether the big automobile companies will get it all, or whether other manufacturers will be given at least a little.

It is exactly the same fight, in reverse, which occurred before Pearl Harbor. At that time, the automobile industry was using up most of the sheet steel. War production was held up until their output could be curtailed, and the auto boys pulled all sorts of wires to keep on producing cars.

Now, the same wires are being pulled to let the steel be completely free, and not allocated to anyone. This is just another way of saying that the automobile companies will get it all, because they are the biggest peacetime buyers of steel and the steel companies naturally like to please their best customers.

Big Business WPB

Today, the War Production Board, under Chairman "Cap" Krug, is more big-business-controlled than ever, so the automobile boys may get their way.

Their fight inside WPB is being led by Vice-Chairman Harold Boeschstein, whose glass company sells headlights to auto manufacturers. He and other WPB moguls argue that the present "controlled materials plan" is being "open-ended," in other words, after a steel mill has completed its "must" government orders, it can sell whatever steel is left over to anyone it wishes.

Hitherto, farm machinery, hardware, the railroads and various war-supporting industries got definite steel allocations from the government. They were always assured some steel. Under the new proposal, however, they would have to scramble for it in competition with the automobile companies.

While the railroads, farm implement companies, et al, doubtless can look after themselves, a long list of small manufacturers also would be affected—those making hardware, electric irons, washing machines, etc. Hitherto, they have been able to get a certain amount of steel allocated to them by WPB. But under the proposed new plan, they would have to scramble for it. And in any battle with the auto companies, it is not difficult to guess where they would come out.

Actually there will be very little steel to scramble for. After war needs and war-supporting needs are met, it is estimated only about 1,000,000 tons of sheet steel will be left over. If WPB moguls have their way, however, the scramble will begin in the fourth quarter of this year.

NOTE: It will be up to new War Mobilizer John Snyder to make the final decision.

Cupid In Congress

Cupid has flown in the window of 57-year-old bachelor Congressman Alexander Resa of Chicago. In fact, 25 years ago the same cupid flew in Resa's window, and flew out again. Then he was not a congressman and cupid didn't linger. Now he is. Thereby hangs a story.

Twenty-five years ago, Resa, a struggling young law clerk and teacher at the John Marshall law school, was paying court to Irene Deegan of Chicago. However, it looked as if he would never be able to support a wife. They drifted apart.

Then last year, Resa ran on the Democratic ticket against GOP Congressman Charles Dewey, the man who became famous for championing Montgomery Ward in its fight with the government. Apparently Charles Dewey was on the unpopular side of that fight, for he lost, and Resa went to Congress.

About that time, the new congressman received a note of congratulations. It was signed "Irene Deegan." He replied. They got reacquainted. On their first date, Resa found that Irene, during all those 25 years, had never married. Neither had he.

So now Miss Deegan will become Mrs. Congressman Alexander J. Resa sometime before October 8.

The Camp and Hospital council will meet at the Sedalia Army Air Field on August 7, for its regular twice-monthly meeting. The Canteen, represented by Mrs. Henry Neiman, Mrs. Frank Coffman, Mrs. J. C. Griffin, and Mrs. N. F. Bockelman, will serve the council members, from 14 Missouri counties. George Yeaman is chairman of the council.

From the Sunshine club of Houstonia has come another beautiful quilt. The chapter is very pleased with these quilts, all of which have a great variety of uses. To the Sunshine club, our thanks for their work.

Attention Please: We must have volunteer sewers to complete the present quota of baby shirts. The Pettis County Chapter has never failed yet in the matter of production, and we don't want to fail now. If you can sew, and can give a little time to the making of these shirts for the small, innocent victims of war, please call Mrs. A. L. Lacer, 1979. Your services are urgently needed.

We have received a letter from the Area office instructing our chapter, (as all chapters) to start on the project of writing a history of the chapter activities during the present war. It will be interesting to everyone in Sedalia and the county to know that, months ago, at the suggestion of our vice-chairman, Mrs. Arthur Kahn, work was begun on "The History of the Pettis County Chapter." The first part of this history, beginning in 1914, and concluding with the entrance of the United States into the global war, is completed, with most of the ground work on the second part also finished. With the coming of V-J day, it will be a simple matter to conclude the history, and send it in to headquarters. This project

INT. PORCH

MED. CLOSE SHOT—SHOOTING TOWARD STAIRS

Corliss is still sitting on the stairs. Mrs. Archer's voice is not too steady, and Corliss is torn with the desire to put her mother out of her misery.

CORLISS: (pathetically) Mother—do you hate me? Please don't hate me.

Suddenly, impulsively, Mrs. Archer runs up the stairs and, sitting next to Corliss, puts her arms around her daughter. She is weeping gently.

MRS. ARCHER: (tenderly) Oh, darling—I don't. Of course I don't. She holds Corliss a little closer and weeps some more.

CORLISS: (unhappily) Oh, Mum—please don't feel so awful. It—oh, Mum, please don't cry! (in genuine anguish) Oh, if only I could explain!

MRS. ARCHER: (very low voice) I'm so ashamed, Corliss. I feel it must be my fault.

CORLISS: Oh, Mum, no—no.

MRS. ARCHER: (unhappily) Oh, darling, we'd dreamed so often of the day you'd get married and—

Suddenly a glint comes into Corliss' eye. That word "married" has obviously suggested something.

CORLISS: But Mom—we are married!

MRS. ARCHER: (stunned) What?

CORLISS: (she knows she's on the right track here) Well, naturally, Mum. I mean, golly, surely you don't think—naturally we got married.

MRS. ARCHER: (a ray of hope) But, Corliss—

CORLISS: (shocked tones) Why, Mum, how could you possibly think we weren't married?

MRS. ARCHER: But, darling, why didn't you say so when—

CORLISS: (and she has a point there) Well, Mum, I haven't had a chance—Daddy's been yelling ever since—and I was sent to my room and—

MRS. ARCHER: (slightly puzzled) But why hasn't Dexter said that you—

CORLISS: (glibly) Dexter's lips are sealed, Mum. I made him swear in blood—that this marriage had to be kept a secret.

MEDIUM SHOT

Corliss suddenly hears the loud slam of the front door, off screen.

CORLISS: (alarmed) Golly—that's Daddy!

She scuttles up the stairs like a rabbit and is out of sight. Mrs. Archer rushes to the door of the porch to meet her husband.

MRS. ARCHER: Harry! Corliss just told me the truth! They're married!

MR. ARCHER: (astounded) What?

INT. HEAD OF STAIRS

CLOSE SHOT—CORLISS

Corliss is crouching on the stairs, out of view from the porch, listening avidly.

MR. ARCHER'S VOICE: (incredulously) Married? Who said so?

MRS. ARCHER'S VOICE: Corliss did!

MR. ARCHER'S VOICE: (yelling) Corliss!

INT. PORCH

CLOSE SHOT—MR. ARCHER

Stands grimly at the foot of the stairs, his wife by his side.

MR. ARCHER: (yelling) Corliss, come here!

Slowly Corliss comes into view.

MR. ARCHER: (in his best courtroom manner) Do I understand correctly that you and Dexter are actually married?

Corliss crosses the fingers on both her hands which are behind her back.

CORLISS: (demurely) Of course, Daddy.

MR. ARCHER: (yelling) Then for the sweet love of heaven, why didn't you say so in the first place?

CORLISS: (the martyr) Well, Daddy, when a person is yelled at and screamed at and sent to her room, you can't very well blame a person for being sort of flustered.

MR. ARCHER: (courtroom manner again) Where were you married?

CORLISS: (only the slightest hesitation) At Wyndham Ferry, Daddy. It's across the state line.

MR. ARCHER: When?

CORLISS: A couple of months ago, Daddy. It was just about the time when Lenny was here.

MR. ARCHER: (heavily ironic) Would it trouble you too much to let me see the wedding certificate?

CORLISS: (glibly) Dexter has it, Daddy.

MR. ARCHER: Hmmm. (brief pause) By whom was the ceremony performed?

CORLISS: A Justice of the Peace, Daddy.

MR. ARCHER: Very well, Corliss—you may go to your room.

CORLISS: (smugly) Yes, Daddy.

She disappears up the stairs.

CLOSE SHOT—MR. AND MRS. ARCHER

Mr. Archer paces up and down, brooding. Finally he walks over to the telephone and picks it up.

MR. ARCHER: (into phone) Operator—get me long distance—I want to speak to the Wyndham Ferry Information Operator—thank you. (over his shoulder to his wife) No harm in checking up.

MRS. ARCHER: But, Harry, how—

MR. ARCHER: Wyndham Ferry's a little hick-town—can't be more than one or two JPs there. (into phone) All right, operator—I'll hang on.

WHAT PRICE—One Pair of Eyes?

THOSE bright, sparkling eyes of childhood! Help them keep their sparkle—their clear, perfect vision. One school child in five has lost part of that sparkle because of defective vision. More than half the people over 35 have eyesight troubles. Why not conserve that precious eyesight by following these four common-sense rules!

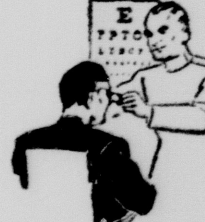

1 Do all reading, studying, sewing, or game-playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp.

2 Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes.

3 Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light directly on your book or work. Shadows strain eyes.

4 Have eyes examined regularly. If eyes are defective, vision can be greatly helped with proper glasses.

When the war is over we are all going to have Better Light for Better Sight. In the meantime, let's conserve both eyesight and light. Take care of your eyes, but don't waste light.

Ear Of Corn Tossed By Mother Fatal To Son

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Aug. 4.—(P)—Cecil F. Bryan, 12, McClure, Ill., died here Thursday of a skull fracture and hemorrhage caused when struck by an ear of corn tossed by his mother, Mrs. Thomas Bryant.

The family was gathering corn when Mrs. Bryant tossed an ear toward a basket. The boy was struck behind the ear and fell unconscious, dying an hour later.

SIMPLE BUT EFFECTIVE

In El Reno, Okla., a large truck became wedged in an underpass that was too low for the truck to pass and it obstructed traffic. Highway experts pulled and pushed the truck without dislodging it. Cutting the overhead beams with torches was considered. After working a long time, a small boy suggested letting some of the air out of the truck's tires. Simple, but effective, and the traffic blockade ended.

Chiropractic is so simple that many cannot see the importance of it. A slight displacement of 1/32 or 1/4 inch of a spinal vertebra can press enough upon the nerve to cause irritation, pain and disease of the part supplied by that nerve. A chiropractic adjustment simply moves the position of the vertebra in a manner to remove the pressure on the nerve. It is simple but effective. The increased clearance means normal function which means health. Changing the gasoline in a car will not make it run if the trouble is due to a short in the electrical system. Changing the chemistry of the body will not help in those cases where the trouble is due to mechanical pressure of bones on nerves. See your chiropractor, your trouble may be due to such causes. Use the simple effective way.

Veto By Gov. Donnelly On Pay Boost Bill

Disapproves It
As To Higher
Pay To Judges

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—(P)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly vetoed Friday a bill to boost the salaries of Missouri judges 12 1/2 to 33 1/3 per cent because, he said, the increases would be too high, too inequitable and too costly to the state.

If the bill had become law, Donnelly said it would have added $364,150 to state costs annually. "If we keep shifting all these things to the state you know the state won't be able to carry the load," he said.

The bill would have raised supreme court judges from $10,000 to $12,500 a year; appellate judges from $8,500 to $10,000; Kansas City and St. Louis circuit judges from $8,000 to $9,000 and other circuit judges from $6,000 to $8,000.

Deems Increases Too High
Donnelly found no merit in a protest filed with the bill contending it would be unconstitutional to raise the pay of incumbent judges. Since a separate judicial section of the constitution does not say that judicial pay may not be raised, the governor concluded the legislature had ample power to pass a law.

But he added: "With reference to the merits of the bill, I believe that this bill is too broad in its scope and undertakes too many increases in salary at one time. Some of the increases are too high and unjustified. I do not believe that the salary increases of the judges of all the courts of the state should be included in one bill. x x x"

The governor noted that St. Louis county circuit judges already had been granted a $1,500 salary increase to $8,000 a year in an earlier bill and said another $1,000 boost would not be fair. Other increases which he described as "out of line" would have raised the circuit judge of Pettis county from $4,700 to $8,000 and the judge of the St. Louis court of criminal correction from $4,000 to $7,000.

Points To Inequality
The principal inequality, however, would be between metropolitan and rural judges, Donnelly asserted.

"I think these outstate circuit judges are entitled to an increase in salary before some of the other circuit judges," he wrote in his veto message, "for the reason that the outstate judges are compelled to hold court in several counties and have their traveling and other expenses to pay, while the circuit judges in St. Louis city and the (metropolitan) counties x x x do not have to leave their home county and, of course, have no such expenses. x x x"

Loses In Valiant Fight To Live

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 4.—(P)—Corp. James E. Newman, 25, who was suffering from tuberculosis of the throat, lungs and stomach, died Friday at his home here at 5:20 p. m. (central war time).

"He died from sheer exhaustion," his doctor said. Newman had spent an uneventful night, but this morning suffered an asthmatic spasm. His doctor relieved this with more oxygen and a stimulant. The young soldier went into a sound slumber. He did not recover consciousness.

The funeral was set at 3 p. m. Monday at the Riverside Assembly of God Church here. Military rites are planned at the Garden of Memories Memorial Park where Newman will be buried in his uniform.

He had received a medical discharge before doctors allowed him to come home last month.

For Newman it was the end of a tough fight for life that started when the Japs captured him at Bataan. He struggled through the March of Death—he didn't remember the last five hours of it. He got through three years of Japanese imprisonment; in a prison camp in the Philippines he endured hopeless starvation.

Doctors at army hospitals in New Guinea and in New Mexico shook their heads. They told him his case was hopeless. But Newman wouldn't give up. He wanted to go home to Fort Worth, he said. He wanted to go back to a little white cottage he had left seven years before. That was where he wanted to make a final fight for life.

Shoe Rationing May End After V-J Day

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—The end of shoe rationing early next year—or sooner if the war ends in the meantime—was forecast by a War Production Board official Friday.

He said prospects for terminating the program early in 1946 are "very good" even if the war still is going on at that time.

Anonymous at his request but qualified by his job to speak authoritatively, the official added:

"If Japan surrenders sooner, shoe rationing will go out the window shortly after V-J Day."

Sharp cuts in military requirements already made or anticipated were given as the reason why the rationing program may not last beyond another six months.

Japs Trapped Lose Over 9,250 Men

No Flash In Office Of John W. Snyder As A Co-ordinator

monosyllables, with a flat, Missouri twang, "Snyder," He begins a typical conversation. "Yes, yes, I've heard about that. We'll have something on it about 4:30 right."

He likes to talk of Harry Truman. The two men first met during World War I at an artillery training camp in France. They met again back in Missouri, where Captain Snyder had moved after starting his banking career at Forest City in his home state of Arkansas. By the time Truman was Jackson county judge, he and the young banker were close friends.

Snyder sees his job as that of a coordinator, and the daily calling list proves his point. On it are congressmen, senators, officials of the army; navy, price administration, war production, manpower, each with a problem for top-level decision.

His office now is one of the government's smallest. On its payroll are only 80 employees, expert advisers culled from many fields by Jimmy Byrnes, Vinson and Snyder.

At 49, John Snyder has had a lot of calls to duty, he wanted to be a bank president, but he couldn't turn down Harry Truman. He wanted to be in active military service, but the homefront needed him more. He wanted to re-organize RFC, but the President had a bigger job in mind.

Around town, they call the job "assistant president." Asked about the unofficial title, John Snyder has a neat out.

"In Washington," he says, "everybody is an assistant to the President."

Objection To Santa Fe Going Into St. Louis

Four Roads Ask St. Louis C. of C. To Take No Action

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 4.—Allegation that the Santa Fe Railroad, if permitted by the Interstate Commerce Commission to enter St. Louis, would create no new traffic and serve no good or useful purpose, four railroads having headquarters here and which have local annual payroll of $27,000,000 and 10,000 local employees, today asked the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to "take no action that could be construed as being prejudicial to their best interests and the best interests of St. Louis." They are the Missouri Pacific Lines, Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines, St. Louis-San Francisco Railway and the St. Louis-Southwestern Railway.

The four railroads claimed that entrance of the Santa Fe into St. Louis would not create any additional traffic and alleged, in effect, that it merely seeks to put itself in position to divert to its rails a portion of the business now being handled by the four lines. If its application is approved, the statement said, resultant loss of revenue would impair the financial position of the four lines and lead to a marked decrease in their employment of St. Louisians. Pointing out that the Santa Fe maintains general offices in Chicago and Topeka, Kas., whereas the four lines have their general offices in St. Louis, the statement said "any additional employment in St. Louis as the result of the Santa Fe's entrance would be at the expense of men and women now living in St. Louis."

Connecting Trains

As to the claim that the entrance of the Santa Fe would improve passenger service to and from the West, the statement points out that "there has been for years through passenger service between St. Louis and California and the existing route between St. Louis and Kansas City, upon the return of normal times, will add such additional service as the public may require either over existing routes or in connection with the Santa Fe through Kansas City."

"If the Santa Fe feels that there is sufficient passenger traffic originating in or moving through St. Louis to justify it," the statement added, "any of the existing lines will handle sleeping cars and coaches on their trains for connection with the Santa Fe at Kansas City."

Pointing out that the four lines had worked diligently to attract east-west traffic through St. Louis, the statement declared Chicago had always been and would remain the preferential gateway for the Santa Fe. "Even if the Santa Fe is permitted to enter St. Louis, Chicago will still be its preferred junction, via which it receives more revenue on east-west traffic than it would receive through St. Louis," the statement said, citing several examples to show that because of the longer haul it would enjoy on freight moved through Chicago the division of revenues for such traffic would be greater than if handled through St. Louis, although freight rates and passenger fares would not be affected by the Santa Fe's entrance in St. Louis.

On a car of pipe from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Fort Worth, Tex., for example, the statement said, the Santa Fe's division would be $100 a car more through Chicago than if it were handled via St. Louis.

Might Cut Down Employment

"It is quite possible," the statement said, "that the Santa Fe with its extensive sales organization could actually bring injury to St. Louis in that traffic which might at the beginning be handled via St. Louis to and from the West at lesser earnings could in time, be diverted through the Chicago gateway. This," it added, "would be reflected in further decreased employment of railroad workers in the greater St. Louis area."

The statement stressed the claim that there is no necessity for another line between St. Louis and Kansas City and said that even under present abnormal conditions they could handle from 35 to 50 per cent more traffic than they are now moving. "When conditions return it is evident that their surplus capacity will be much greater and there is, therefore, no reason for dividing the existing tonnage with another railroad."

The statement pointed out that large sums had been spent during the last 20 years in improving the rail plants of the four lines and that the Missouri Pacific alone had invested $23,000,000 in St. Louis and on its line between here and Kansas City. The statement showed that the four lines pay taxes in St. Louis totaling $207,000 a year and that local purchases run into the millions annually.

Burlington Changes Opinion

The statement recalled that in 1933 when a new shortline railroad was projected between St. Louis and Kansas City that the Burlington railroad, which is now aiding the Santa Fe's entrance into St. Louis, vigorously opposed the move. At that time, the Burlington's general manager, W. F. Thielhof testified that there was no need for another railroad or for additional service between these two cities. It was further stated that when the short line was denied authority to construct, the Interstate Commerce Commission

Ship Operated In Landings Last 6 Months

Two From This Area Are Aboard USS West Virginia

Aboard the USS West Virginia in the Western Pacific—John W. Cowden, yeoman first class, USN, whose wife lives at Sweet Springs and whose mother, Mrs. Mary Cowden, lives on route 4, St. Joseph, Mo., and Oliver G. Renfro, seaman first class, USNR, whose wife lives at Ionia, fought at Okinawa aboard this venerable man of war, the only battleship which has taken part in every major landing operation in the Pacific in the last six months.

Blasted at Pearl Harbor by two bombs and at least six torpedoes, the old battleship was resurrected and repaired, then joined the fight against the Japs with a vigor that has won her a reputation as the "one ship task force."

In the last year and a half the West Virginia has fired more than 3,000 rounds from her new 16-inch rifles, nearly 30,000 rounds from her secondary batteries and more than 200,000 bullets from her automatic weapons, a total of 5,500 tons of ammunition.

Into Leyte Gulf

The West Virginia made her first combat strike by leading a column of fire support units into Leyte Gulf, flying the same colors she flew when she was damaged at Pearl Harbor. She poured salvo after salvo into the Jap lines, interrupting the bombardment to splash her first plane.

With other old battleships of the Fleet, she helped sink two Jap battleships and three destroyers in the epic battle of the Surigao Strait. She was the first to take the Jap ships under fire. Later, at Mindoro and Lingayen, she operated with a protective screen from carriers and transports.

She arrived at Iwo Jima just after the first Marines landed, bombing the enemy. From Iwo she traveled to Okinawa. She emptied her magazine several times in bombarding the Japs during that operation. In all her action, there have been less than 20 casualties.

So pesky has she proved to the Japs that Tokyo Rose, the notorious propaganda broadcaster, once announced thousands of the Japs' best fliers were attending their own funeral services before taking off to destroy her. They didn't.

SAAF Will Be Three Years Old August 8

By Cpl Wendy Downey
We call our base Sedalia. 'Cause it's in some other spot. And send our mail to Warrensburg. 'Cause that's also where we're not."

Sedalia Army Air Field, Knob Noster, Mo., postoffice, Warrensburg, next week checks off its third year of active existence as an air base originally formed for "the activation of Troop Carrier Groups and the training of glider pilots." It was officially declared open on August 8, 1942, when Lt. Col Robert H. Wheat arrived to take charge of the embryo air field.

Of the original cadre of 11 EM from Camp Williams, Wis., who arrived here August 31, not one was left on the base this week to tell the story of the first days. S. Sgt Libero Gallo, last of the eleven, was also one of the first of the field's famed "400" contingent to take off, and when his plane was airborne last Tuesday, the tradition went with him.

What's Going On?
But other early arrivals, mostly members of the Guard Squadron, are still here. They came the latter part of September when the buildings were still only partially completed. Nevertheless, the field had sprouted considerably since the morning "the first of May when the residents of Knob Noster woke up and began to wonder what was going on."

That year, the first arrivals met a 26-day scourge of continual rainfall. S. Sgt Lloyd Mann, now base historian, with whose assistance much of this background was written, tells the story of the big contingent which arrived in September:

Woolly West
"The trucks were lined up to pick us up at Knob Noster, but no trains stopped at Knob Noster then, and the train just whistled by. When we got to Warrensburg, we had to send back for the trucks."

We thought we were in the wild and woolly west when we hit the base.
"There were dogs and cats all about, and snakes crawling around in the lazy fall days. It rained so much that everything was grizzly gray and muddy yellow, as though someone had spilled a custard pie on a dirty floor."
"The runways were complete by the time we came, and they were about the only things that were. There were no dayrooms then, no theatre, no chapel. All you could do in the evenings was write letters, while you sat on the edge of your bunk."

"The engineers had been short on material, and were forced to use second-hand pipes, so the water wasn't fit for drinking from the tap, and you were subject to company punishment if you did. It was a treat to go to Sedalia just to get a drink of water, and the waitresses would stare at us as we gulped down one glass after another."

"The mud was so adhesive that you would have sworn the first PX had a dirt floor... you could not see a square inch of concrete."

No Grass
Captain Frank Stella, one of the first officers to arrive, can add his bit to that story: "The cars stuck in mud all over the field, and you usually drove a vehicle as far as you could, then hiked the rest of the way in... There was no grass, just lots of dust and mud. The boys drank milk and pop out of barrels... Every officer had about 67 additional duties."

The Quartermaster shortage was terrific. "You had to be a lieutenant colonel to rate a paper clip or a rubber band," Col Wheat was the only one to have a desk the first week, while other officers, like Major Lovette L. Hill, who was then a second lieutenant, used boards nailed between two kegs, and took a lot of splinters in their fingers.

The weather was a never-failing source of conversation. A verse appeared in the "Troop Courier"—then the AAB News:

"We had a storm the other day.
The rain came down for hours.
The mud was only ankle deep
Until we had the showers.
It rained, it rained, the thunder rolled."

The lightning flashed in sheets.
I wouldn't want to be here long
If history repeats."
In November came the classic, The sticky clammy Missouri mud, And the little stones that are therein:

I only walk it in with feet,
And yet I find it on my chin."

The name of the young air base was causing gray hairs to those who had to make out pay vouchers bearing the exact title. On August 8, it was Sedalia Army Air Base, Warrensburg. On September 23, "Sedalia" was dropped, and it became Army Air Base, Warrensburg. In October the title was changed to Army Air Base, Knob Noster; and on November 12—with the fervent hope of all clerks and stenographers that this would be the final switch—it turned into Sedalia Army Air Field, Warrensburg.

Local Courtesy
There were no dayrooms 'till Thanksgiving; the barracks were dismal; luster bags hung about the squadron areas, but the water tasted like chlorine; men had to eat from mess kits. But the citizens of both Sedalia and Warrensburg pitched in to help out the pioneers. USO's were established fast, and they made a number of generous gestures—like sending a gift to every man on the base the first Christmas.

On January 1, 1943, the AAB News sponsored a contest to name the base newspaper, and the winner, Sgt Charles McGuire, earned $25 for submitting the name Troop Courier. On January 8, 1943, the "Roving Reporter" set out with the $64 question: "In your opinion, how long will the war last?"

"Clouded Crystal Ball": every answer but one was just wishful thinking in the light of the fact that this was two and a half years ago. "The war will be over in six months"... "It'll be over by my birthday, September 11, and I'll be able to celebrate it at home"... "We'll be home by Christmas"... Pvt Frank Davis, who later became NCOIC of the Photo-Lab, and who shipped for overseas only this month, remarked "I hope it ends this year. I believe it will, if the Allied advances and successes continue as announced over the radio recently."

The only one who hit near the bull's-eye was Sgt William J. Conway, now a T/Sgt at Base Operations, who prophesied gloomily "The war will continue for five more years. However, don't place any reliance on my statement, because every prediction I make always turns out to be wrong."

Easier on the Eyes
With the spring of 1943 came the dust storms. "From the guest house," says Sgt Mann, "there was a yellow wall so thick I couldn't see the main gate." But with the spring, began the planting program, and a base gardening officer was named. A contest for beautifying the base started. In successive weeks, the "Troop Courier" told of the plans: Headquarters planned "multitudinous blooms," a series of rose bushes along the walks, a beauty all its own. Small green and white fences were built; shrubs and trees appeared, "and the grass" said the gleeful reports, "has already been mowed several times."

Odd incidents occurred in those early days. Major C. Mitchell Hall now Post Engineer, could tell you some of them... like the day when a whole flock of Troop Carrier pigeons were flown in (did you ever notice the pigeon loft back of the water tower?), together with an order to pipe them fresh running water that very day. The Post Engineers, who were working hard to pipe water to the victory garden and the stables, had to call their jobs off short, to pump water to the not-very-welcome-pigeons.

Cavalry-Minded Airmen
The "stables" mentioned above, were another fly-by-night incident. The base was short of guards, and the theory was that a mounted guard would call for fewer men. Stables were requested, and officials went to Fort Riley to look into buying horses. Unfortunately for their hopes, the would-be-cavalry outfit was informed that it would require about six men to care for each horse... a number which would by far exceed the number of guards needed in the first place.

Two Years Ago This Summer
On Saturday, July 3, the Base Service Club opened... On July 17, the first Waacs arrived... On August 14, a boy was born to Lt and Mrs. Frank D. Stella, and Lt Stella, now Captain, base PX officer and father for a second time, reported that "David has a very snappy military salute."

In August came the "Best GI Legs" contest, which built up to a terrific letdown, for the winner was never announced... Pic Theodore Adamezyk established an unofficial base record by writing his girl a 102-page letter.

On September 11, a glider spotlighting contest challenge was issued by Col Tracy K. Dorsett, then 61st Wing CO, to Col Wheat, winner to be awarded a certificate from "the exalted order of motionless wonders." Pic Tenny Crum was even then writing 'snatchings from the boogie board' for the 61st Wing... Sigmund Romberg played a return engagement in September, following a first appearance in February... The stripe parade appeared often in the paper, in those days of unfrozen ratings. Col Reed Landis flying ace of World War I, and connected with the TCC since its activation, succeeded Col Dorsett as head of the 61st Wing the week of December 18.

Christmas came, and with it the usual letters surrounded by holly appeared in the base paper. The 61st Wing requested Santa Claus to fire their stoves if he arrived late... Cpl Crum asked for Henry Armstrong's trumpet... Pvt Trudy Moulton asked for a pair of brand new roller skates, with bright blue tassels and sparkling stars... F/Sgt Witschie wanted a few more outfits to enlarge the 405th, so he could have a larger Manning Table to gaze at, and a beautiful doll that he could call his own.

On March 11, 1944, Vichy became a satellite field, claimed from the 3rd Air Force... On March 25, Col McCauley, former CO of the 60th Troop Carrier Wing, succeeded Col Wheat as base CO... In March, SAAFI experienced its largest fire on record; a C-47, a towing tug, and a tractor were consumed when Hangar 7 burned down.

On April 15, the 813th AAFBU was formed from the old 405th, Wacs, Aviation Squadron, Medics, guard section, and other base units... May 13, the Base Shuttle was christened in coca-cola, and the first GI to ride asked for a transfer slip to the line shuttle at the junction.

August 18, the NCO Club celebrated its formal opening... August 19, Sunday Breakfast at the Service Club got its start...

Expanded Horizons
New Year's came, and on January 6, 1945, the C-46 Instructor's School opened here. In the eventful spring that followed, Sedalia Army Air Field, a full-grown air base now, was swept far less by local problems than by international events.

President Roosevelt passed away on April 12... On May 8, V-E Day was celebrated with a tremendous mass meeting in the Butler Hangar. In a triumphant sequel to V-E Day, 85 points discharge total was announced, and thirty-eight of the field's boys, gold-stripes on their sleeves, took off for the life of a feathermerchant. On May 26, forty year-olds were pronounced eligible for discharge.

On June 5, Bob "First Troop Carrier Command" Hope, broadcast to a nation-wide audience and a cheering mob of field soldiers in the base theatre... June 21, the band and several of the base personnel took part in the great review for victoriously returning General Eisenhower in Kansas City... On June 30, 400 of SAAFI's men, most of them old-time old-timers here, were alerted for redeployment... On July 9, the Central Instructor's School was activated... and—winding up last week with an Open House for Army Air Forces' thirty-eighth anniversary... SAAFI opened another page and began its fourth year.

During Mrs. Ney's absence, Mrs. Marie Moorhead, of Atlanta, Ga., who is with the St. Louis area office will be on duty at the base hospital.

Sedalia Legion Club Takes 13-1 in Game For The State Title

Wearied After 17 Inning Game Friday Lacked Pitching And Pep To Win

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4.—(P)—With unbeaten Dick Loeser registering his 11th victory of the year, the St. Louis Stockham team won their third Missouri American Legion baseball championship in four years today by defeating the Sedalia Pettis Post, 13 to 1.

The game, scheduled for nine innings, was called after two hours of play at the end of seven innings because of tournament rules governing one-sided contests.

It was too much pitching against almost none at all that decided the game. Gene May, who had pitched 21 innings in two days, again started for Sedalia. He wore out in the fourth, and five runs crossed the plate for St. Louis before the third Sedalia pitcher finally put out the side.

Breaks To Stockhams
In the fourth the Stockhams got oiled two hits, but were aided by two wild pitches, one hit batsman, three walks of which one came with the bases loaded, a passed ball and an error.

Loeser allowed six hits, struck out eight and walked three. He was a power at the plate also as he collected a single and a double in four trips to drive in three runs.

Until the blowup in the fourth the teams were battling on even terms. St. Louis scored one in the first and Sedalia tied the score with three hits, and a sacrifice in the second.

Thomas Goes Good
Johnny Thomas, slender 16-year-old Sedalia shortstop, looked good even though his team lost by a lopsided score. He made two hits in three attempts, made his only error of the tournament in the field and came in as fireman in the fourth to retire the side as a pitcher.

The stockham club will enter the regional tournament at Quincy, Ill., against the state champions of Illinois, Arkansas and Kentucky starting a week from tomorrow.

M. P. Eagles Take Softball Championship

Score 15-2 Over Montgomery Ward; Knot Hiders Win

The Missouri Pacific Eagles overpowered and out-classed the Montgomery Ward softball team Friday night to take over the title of City Champions before one of the largest crowds to witness a baseball game at Liberty Park since the state semi-pro tournament was staged here several years ago. The score was 15 to 2.

The Ward team made a ball game of it for the first three innings but the Eagles scored eight runs in the fourth inning on a barrage of hits and errors to put the game on ice.

This game wound up play in the City Twilight league for the current season during which time five teams have played weekly throughout the season.

Batteries for the game were Missouri Pacific Eagles, Hyatt and Norman; Montgomery Ward, Steiner and Satterwhite.

Afternoon Baseball Tournament

The six teams playing in the afternoon baseball league wound up the summer's play by completing the league tournament. The Knot Hiders made it a double triumph when they came through to take the tournament title. Previously they had topped the league.

The Knot Hiders team composed of Browns, Vilmer, Morgan, Hawley, Hunter, Ruffin, Neidhardt, Rosenquist, Whitefield, and Kettle, defeated the Gremlins 13 to 12 to cop the championship and give the Gremlins second place in the tournament. The Pirates defeated the Mohawks 18 to 15 to take third place.

During the week Donohue of the Gremlins and Hunter of the Knot Hiders each connected for an out of the park home run. Walker and Kerns of the Pirates each connected for two home runs. Walker's one home run came with the bases loaded.

Dodgers Given Two Defeats

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—The Brooklyn Dodgers dropped further in the National league race today when they suffered two defeats at the hands of the Boston Braves, losing 1-0 in the regularly scheduled contest after completing the suspended June 17 game, the final outcome being 4-1 in the home team's favor.

Bill Lee allowed six hits in the regular game which ended abruptly when Eddie Stanky, who had begun the last frame with a single, was nailed at the plate trying to score on Dixie Walker's double.

The lone run of the game came in the first inning and was the result of a disputed play. Dick Culler walked and stole second. As he broke for the bag however, umpire Magerkurth made a gesture which gave the Dodgers the impression that Vic Lombardi, Brooklyn pitcher, had made a balk. Lombardi's peg to first had Culler tripped but believing Magerkurth had called a balk, Stanky didn't tag Culler when the ball was relayed to him by Augie Galan. The Dodgers protested Magerkurth's ruling.

Another walk and two outfield flies moved Culler around to the plate. The Braves made only four hits.

The suspended contest was picked up with the Dodgers at bat in the eighth inning and one out.

Reds Finally Beat Chicago
CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 4.—(P)—Cincinnati's Reds finally won a ball game from Chicago today, their first in 16 starts, a 4 to 3 victory which saw Subs Manager Charley Grim ejected for protesting too vehemently a close ninth-inning decision at third by Umpire George Barr.

Big Ed Heusser allowed nine hits and won his own game with a timely single in the sixth which sent Shortstop Eddie Miller across the plate with a tie-breaking run.

Grimm was ejected after Len Merullo doubled to open the ninth and was called out as he tried to stretch it. Merullo and Red's third sacker Steve Messer stood toe to toe during an ensuing argument in which players of both clubs rushed to the scene.

Giants 5, Phillies 4
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(P)—Relief Pitcher Jack Kraus walked Whitey Lockman with the bases full and the score tied in the tenth inning tonight to give the New York Giants a 5 to 4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies before a crowd of 14,691.

Oscar Judd, who blanked the Outmen with three hits in eleven innings on July 27, held the Giants to three hits and led, 3-1, going man.

Sport Scraps

(by D. K. SCRUTON)

I can't say the best ball club won the State American Legion tournament at St. Louis, Saturday, but it was a good club and deserves to win because they took advantage of every break that came their way. To me, Sedalia has the best Junior American Legion baseball team in the history of Legion ball in Sedalia—that was proven very distinctly when they advanced to the finals. Yes, the team as a good if not just a little bit better than the club which won, to my estimation.

Manager Bill Walker, deserves much credit in the way he handled the boys, but he was the victim of a short pitching staff for the state meeting. Two pitchers are not enough, especially when one gets his arm injured and the other pitches to victory in seven innings one day, comes back the next as a relief and goes fourteen innings, then is called upon for the championship tilt.

It was good to see the fight the boys had in their hearts after their only pitcher, Gene May, had to be waved from the mound in the fourth inning of the big game. Ralph Waters tried his luck, but he couldn't deliver the goods on the mound, then John "Bud" Thomas tried and worked hard, but it just wasn't the place for him, so thirteen year old Ralph Walker marched out on the mound and battled the rest of the way.

At this point I want to say the Legion has something in store in young Walker, whether it is on first base or the pitchers mound. He has a real baseball heart and deserves much credit.

There's not a boy on the team who didn't try his best to bring the state honor to Sedalia, and everyone of those boys need plenty of pats on the back. Their work on the team has been such, there will not be a "big head" among the lot, they are all pretty level headed and cool when it comes to accepting any praise offered.

JOHN A. "JOHNNY" THOMAS, Chief Petty Officer U. S. N.

Repair Unit, former hurler for the Sedalia Merchants who is returning to find his son, John "Bud" Thomas, who has followed "pop" in baseball, one of the honored players of the State tournament. It is a reward which Chief Petty Officer Thomas is justly due, because his first love is baseball, and to find his son already making the climb of the ladder to success which Dad wanted him to do.

"Bud" was chosen by a five-man Commission to represent the St. Louis and Eastern District of Missouri in the All-American boy's game in New York on August 28. This game is sponsored by Esquire and has become, in the past few years, one of the desired games for all Junior baseball players to get an opportunity to play in.

His outstanding performance in the state tournament won the decision of the Commission, all agreed that he would well represent the district in this National contest.

I might say his performance in the state tournament was no more than what he has done with the team all season, "Bud" has been one of the main supports of the local club, and the honors bestowed are well earned.

CPO Thomas has been stationed in the Aleutian Islands for more than a year.

A question asked by the boys after Saturday's game went like this, "What will the people say at home about us now?" Several thought they would be criticized for not winning, after pulling through the seventeen inning affair Friday. But they were assured by members of Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, they had nothing to be ashamed of because they lost.

Of course the grandstand managers, and second guesser's will have something to say about the game, but down in their own hearts they haven't a leg to stand on for criticism. If they followed the tournament, listened to games or read about them, they can only say, "Boys you did swell, the breaks were just against you."

Red Sox And Senators Split

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—Tom McBride and Dave Ferriss of Boston and Walter Holborow and one-legged Bert Shepard of Washington had a big day today as the Red Sox and Senators split a twin bill, 4-0 and 15-4.

McBride tied the major league record of six runs batted home in one inning as Boston lashed out with a 12-run assault behind Ferriss in the fourth inning of the second game.

The Red Sox outfielder cleared the loaded bases twice with a double and triple, equaling the record set by Fred Merkle, New York Giants in 1911 and tied by Bob Johnson, Red Sox left fielder, when he was with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1937.

Yankees 5; Athletics 1

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—(P)—The New York Yankees handed the Philadelphia Athletics their 10th straight loss today and made it nine victories in 12 games over the Mackmen defeating them 5-1.

Allen Gettel scattered nine hits to register his fifth victory against four losses. Don Black went all the way for the A's, allowing only eight hits, but three were extra base hits. Oscar Grimes got a triple in the first inning when the Yankees tallied twice, and George Stinnett hit his 13th triple in the fifth frame to score on Bud Metheny's single.

A double by Aaron Robinson helped in the New Yorkers' last scoring thrust in the ninth. Hal Peck's triple and a fielder's choice tallied the only run for the Athletics in the fifth.

Newhouse Eases Up, Loses

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(P)—Tall Hall Newhouse, who won 29 games for Detroit last year, eased up for a few moments in the seventh inning today when he was nursing a 2-0 lead, and because of it the Chicago White Sox won their second straight from the American league-leading Tigers, 3-2.

Detroit had scored twice in the third inning and Newhouse had given up but three hits going into the seventh. To the 5,123 fans it looked like big Hal was on his way to a shutout.

Then the explosion came. He walked Johnny Diskost to start the seventh. Floyd Baker and Guy Cutright both singled to fill the bases, and Cass Michaels doubled to right to score Dickshot and Baker. Catcher Mike Tresh layed down a squeeze bunt to score Cutright.

Aside from that inning, however, Newhouse was scarcely touched. He gave up four more hits, but never more than one an inning.

into the 8th. An error by Betsy Mott and Mel Ott's twelfth homer and 501st of his career tied the count.

The Phils scored once in the tenth but Clyde Kluttz's third homer of the campaign again deadlocked the score in the Giants half. Phil Weintraub's single chased Judd, and Andy Karl loaded the sacks with a pass and a hit batsman. Kraus then emerged from the bullpen to issue the tie-breaking walk to Lockman.

A grizzly bear can outrun a horse in a 100-yard dash.

Pirates Are Defeated 6 To 5 By Cardinals

Catcher Salkeld Accounts For All Five Pittsburgh Runs

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4.—(P)—Despite the best efforts of Catcher Bill Salkeld who personally accounted for all five Pittsburgh runs the Pirates lost 6 to 5 to the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Pittsburgh had a 5-1 lead going into the eighth inning when the Cards knocked Nick Strincevich off the mound and tallied four runs on four hits.

Art Rebel scored the winning run in the ninth on Debs Garm's single over second.

Salkeld's first-inning homer with two aboard gave the Pirates their first three runs and his triple in the seventh accounted for the other two, he completed a perfect day at bat by also binging out a double and two singles.

Harry Brechen, third Card pitcher, was credited with the win. Ay Gerhauser, who relieved Strincevich in the eighth was the loser.

Canadian Open Title Won By Byron Nelson

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—(P)—Byron Nelson, Toledo's mechanical marvel of the links, fired a two-under-par 68 in the final round today to win the $10,000 Canadian open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 280.

The former Texan finished four strokes in front of Herman Barron, the White Plains, N. Y. veteran, who shot his last 16 holes in 67—lowest round of the tournament—and wound up with 284.

It was Nelson's second sub-par round of the three-day event and enabled him to chalk up his tenth straight victory in tournament play.

Improvement For Football

By Skipped Patrick

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4.—(P)—Football is going to show considerable improvement this fall, but fans should not get hepped-up over the prospect of seeing games of the 1942 level for several years, advises Coach Thomas of the University of Alabama.

"I think football is going to be decidedly better this fall than last," Thomas said, "but it is going to take at least three or four years after the conclusion of the war to get back up there with the manpower of three seasons ago."

Here as chief lecturer of the Louisiana High School Coaches' Association football school, Thomas says the returning veterans are going to have plenty of trouble chasing the war "emergency" kids out of starting positions.

"I was a freshman at Notre Dame in 1919 and a lot of the old players had been mustered out of the army and were back in school," Thomas said. "But the 1919 team was predominantly the 1918 kid team. Eddie Anderson (later Iowa coach) was a regular end in 1918 and returning veterans couldn't take the job away from him in '19."

"The same was true of Clipper Smith, Birney Kirk, Rodge Riley and Hunk Anderson, just to mention a few. Many of the 1918 boys never did lose their regular jobs and some of them developed into all-time Notre Dame greats."

Loss of timing and a temporary lull in interest, Thomas says, will be the veterans' greatest handicaps in football.

NBC Tourney Will Start August 13

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 4.—(P)—The Sherman Field Flyers of Leavenworth, Kas., defending champions, will oppose the Chanute Field Planemen, Illinois title-holders, in the opening game of the 1945 National Semi-pro Baseball Tournament Friday night, the National Baseball Congress said today.

The contest is scheduled for 8:15 p. m.—the first of 43 games to be run off under the double elimination system.

Friday night's second game, billed for 10 p. m., will bring together the Gowen Field Pilots, Idaho champions, and Jefferson Barracks, the Missouri tournament winner.

With the exception of the Wichita Cessna Bobcats, Kansas champions, all teams in the tournament will represent the Army. Acting on the recommendation of the ODT at Washington that all out-state civilian clubs not be permitted to compete because of the acute transportation problem, Congress President Ray Dumont said he advised four state championship civilian clubs according-

Eagles To Play Gliders Monday

The Missouri Pacific Eagles softball team will meet the Gliders from the Air Base Monday night at Liberty Park at 8:30 o'clock. This should prove to be an exciting game. Last week these two clubs battled out a 4 to 3 game with the Eagles winning. However the Gliders are coming confident of evening the score and a real game is anticipated Hyatt or Cozad will do the pitching for the Eagles with Norman the catcher. The Gliders battery has not been announced.

Plan Mecca For Recreation

Proposal For Construction Of State Owned Lakes

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 4.—(P)—The Missouri Conservation Commission has a new member today as it announced a broad postwar program to make the state a mecca for outdoor sportsmen.

Robert A. Brown, Jr., St. Joseph lawyer and a Republican was appointed to the bipartisan state board by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly for a six year term succeeding Glen E. Stoner, Springfield Republican.

Simultaneously the commission announced plans for expanding recreational facilities by building new lakes and creating new fish and game areas, geared to an expected 50 per cent increase in hunting and fishing after the war.

Provide Fishing Spots

Plans include construction of state-owned lakes up to 100 acres or larger, primarily for fishing; perking up the quantity of game in run-down areas by establishing a seed-stock refuge system; buying and developing waterfowl areas for public shooting; stressing trout fishing through an enlarged hatchery program; and expansion of deer stocking and wild turkey restoration.

To finance such schemes, license-buyers would have to pay more than at present and the commission expects $175,000 annual revenue increase. The new scale will be considered at the commission's September meeting.

Non-resident anglers would have to buy an annual permit for $3, eliminating the $1 ten-day fee now used. County residents' special $1 hunt-fish-trap permits for use within their own county would be abandoned. Statewide combination licenses now $2.50 would be cut out, or raised to $3. And daily trout fishing fees in state parks would be jumped from 25 to 50 cents.

Licenses would sell at $2 for hunting and trapping and $1 for trout fishing with no reduction in cost, if issued.

Construction of the first 100-acre lake, to cost an estimated $25,000-$50,000, is already authorized but the commission said no site had yet been approved.

Merchants Will Go To Jeff City Tonight

The Sedalia Merchants will go to Jefferson City tonight where they meet the Twedies under the lights. The game is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock. The proposed game between the Merchants and the Junior American Legion club was called off Saturday.

It was decided that the seven-teen innings Friday and the hard game Saturday, with the pitching staff worn out, it would be too much to ask the boys to come home and play a game today. However, Manager Palmer Nichols, desires to have his team meet the Legion aggregation at an early date and is confident the Sedalia ball fans will be in line to see some real baseball played as well as a great team on the diamond.

Tonight Manager Nichols will use "Lefty" Hal Green against the Capital City aggregation.

The Sedalia lineup will be: Merchants: Livengood 1b, Light 2b, Evans ss, Ellsworth 3b, Morris 1c, Nichols cf, Williams rf, Norman c, Shirley p.

THE KMBC NEWSROOM IS WINDING UP FOR THE SUMMER

An unusual project which will be reflected in the University of Kansas Journalism classes when the school reopens in the fall. That part of Journalism to which we refer is radio news as such. Erle Smith, KMBC's news editor, has thrown open all the inner workings of a modern day newsroom such as that of KMBC to Elmer Beth, who heads up K. U.'s Journalism department. The purpose back of the project which is industry sponsored by the National Association of Broadcasters, is to acquaint the nation's colleges and universities with the needs of radio news departments. In this way it is hoped that the necessary processes that go into the making of qualified newscasters, such as those of KMBC, will be put to work back in the schools and not on graduation day. Mr. Beth, as a part of this orientation program, actually has edited some of the station's newscasts, including that of Erle Smith's at 3:25 p.m.

3—In Memoriam
IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear father and husband, Jesse A. Rayl, who departed this life 5 years ago today, August 5, 1940. We are sad within our memory. Lonely are our hearts today. For the one we loved so dearly has been forever called away. Sadly missed by wife, Mrs. Edna Rayl and children.

IN LOVING MEMORY of my darling husband, Charles Dale, who passed away two years ago, August 5th, 1943.

When the evening shadows are falling
And I am all alone,
To my heart there comes a longing
If he only could come home.
In those silent moments
I grieve my deep regret.
For he was mine to remember
Should all the world forget.
Sadly missed by his loving wife and children.

Many farmers are now receiving 5c to 7c more per dozen for quality eggs sold on graded basis than the current receipt ceiling price.

Make certain that you get every penny for your eggs that they deserve. Sell your eggs on the Swift Graded Plan. Find out the details the next time you come to town. Additional features are prompt payment and fair treatment.

Awarded Bronze Medal

With the 96th division on Okinawa, T/4 Kenneth F. Yessen of Sedalia, Mo., has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service on Leyte and Okinawa.

A radio operator and repairman in the 362 Field Artillery battalion T/4 Yessen has seen action in the Leyte and Okinawan campaigns with Maj. Gen. Bradley's 96th "Deadeye" division.

In awarding T/4 Yessen, Gen. Bradley cited him as follows:
T/4 grade Yessen performed outstanding service as the principal radio repairman in keeping in repair all of the radios of his organization. Higher Range On Grain Futures

By George McConville
CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(P)—Grain futures ranged higher in today's trade, but prices fell off at the close when traders decided the Commodity Credit Corporation, which announced it would purchase cash wheat today, was not active.

There was a brisk advance following the opening on reports that the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration had underestimated its needs to feed war-ravaged Europe. Wheat was as much as a cent higher at times.

At the finish, wheat was 1/2 cent lower to 3/4 cent higher than yesterday's close. September 1.67 to 1.67 1/2. Corn was 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 cent higher, September $1.18. Oats were 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower. September 64 1/2. Rye was 1/2 cent higher to 3/4 cent lower, September $1.47 1/2 to $1.47 3/4. Barley was 1/4 to 1 1/4 cent lower, September $1.11 1/2.

Medal Award To Sgt. Warren Of Calhoun

WITH THE 65TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN EUROPE—For his willingness and courage to travel through an area under enemy artillery and machine-gun fire to secure ammunition for his company, Staff Sergeant William L. Warren of Route 1, Calhoun, Mo., has recently been awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

Sgt. Warren, 259th Infantry, was cited for his heroic action, on April 21, 1945 at Neumarkt, Germany, during the battle for the town. The official citation states: "... When the First Platoon of Company 'I' ran low on ammunition during its mission of taking high ground from the enemy, Sgt. Warren, despite intense fire from the enemy, made two trips to a supply point to replenish the ammunition of his platoon. In making each of these trips of approximately three-quarters of a mile, Sgt. Warren travelled through an area under sharp shelling from German artillery and machine gun fire. Knowing the extreme need of his men, he did not hesitate to risk his life."

In Offensive At the time of this action, the 65th division's part of General Patton's Third army, was in the midst of an offensive that started in the Saar Basin and continued deep into Austria before hostilities ceased in Europe.

Sgt. Warren's wife, Mrs. Olinda Mae Warren, and his son, Jerry Dean, live at Calhoun, Mo. His father, Mr. Stone Warren resides on Route 3, Windsor, Mo.

Electrician In Manila

"With the 866th Engineer Aviation Battalion in Manila: Pfc. Charles A. Hodges, son of Mrs. Lilly Byler, 632 East 14th Street, Sedalia, Mo., is now serving as an electrician with the 866th Engineer Aviation Battalion in Manila. Pfc. Hodges took part in the initial landing made on the strategically important island of Mindora, jumping off point for the invasion of Luzon. Pfc. Hodges followed within two hours of the assault wave. He worked through enemy raids and a naval bombardment. Through his efforts, he was in part, responsible for the completion of the San Jose air strip two days ahead of its scheduled completion date. As a result of this, our medium bombers were able to drive off a Japanese naval task force that attempted to shell and destroy our installations on the island."

Pfc. Hodges was inducted in July of 1942 and was assigned to his present organization at Geiger Field. On April 22, 1944, he embarked for the South Pacific and has since seen service in New Guinea and on Leyte, Mindoro and Luzon in the Philippines. He is now authorized to wear in addition to the Good Conduct Ribbon the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon with three battle stars, the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with one battle star and the Rifle Marksman's Medal.

Prior to induction, Pfc. Hodges was employed as a farm worker and lumberman. As the war in the Pacific moves closer to the Japanese homeland, Charlie can be heard humming a song that seems to sum up his one desire for the present. The name of the song is "In the Pines."

Wild Lettuce Grows 11½ Feet High

Rev. C. B. Angle, Twenty-first street and Wagner avenue, has wild lettuce growing in his yard that is 11½ feet high.

Wild lettuce, he states, is good to eat, as greens, in the spring. When he noticed the height to which the lettuce seemed to be growing he did not cut it down, and in measuring it Friday, he said, it had reached the unusual height.
